GENERAL NEWS

The [illegible] of Congress [illegible]

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The committee of the house and senate to make recommendations concerning the order of business for the extra session held a joint meeting of five and a half hours, with Thurman president. The first question discussed was whether the political legislation [illegible] by the dominant party [illegible] [illegible] be effected by the [illegible] of [illegible] or by [illegible] of repealing clauses in the appropriation bills. It was determined after some discussion by thirty [illegible] five, that the latter course would be [illegible] especially for [illegible] likely to save time.

There being a general desire to finish the [illegible] of the session at as early a day as possible, the next question considered was whether the political portion of the appropriation bills should now be [illegible] in the [illegible] in which they were [illegible] at the last session, or whether the repealing [illegible] to federal election laws should be [illegible] [illegible] for election [illegible] with [illegible] [illegible] After an extensive [illegible] it was [illegible] the adoption of the modified [illegible] by a vote of five [illegible] four.

The joint meeting then authorized Senators Thurman, Saulsbury, Bailey and Kernan, and Representatives Chalmers, Springer, Carlisle and Atkins to formulate the provisions in accordance with the decision in regard to the [illegible].

Mr Springer's proposition to provide for the [illegible] of the [illegible] statute of George II [illegible] favorably received. It prohibits any soldier stationed within 2 miles of a voting place from leaving his quarters on election day, except to [illegible] the guard or go to the polls to vote and requiring him in the latter case to return to his quarters immediately afterwards.

The joint sub-committee will meet Monday and expect to report to the caucus [illegible] Tuesday.

The joint meeting also considered whether the [illegible] of the [illegible] should be strictly confined to the appropriation bills, including the measures indicated, or whether general business should not be transacted by either house [illegible] [illegible] bills. A majority of senate committee favored the restriction to appropriation bills and the enactment of what [illegible] the yellow fever bill. A small majority of house [illegible] that the opportunities for [illegible] general business should be [illegible] without, however, prolonging the session after the appropriation bills shall have been disposed of. It was finally decided to report disagreement on this subject to the joint caucus.

NASHVILLE, TENN., March 22. Chicago, San Francisco, [illegible], Detroit and Topeka were nominated for the next place of meeting of the Supreme Lodge of United Workmen. Chicago was elected but vote was reconsidered, and made the special order for Monday. The Supreme lodge adopted a rule that no petition for formation of separate beneficiary jurisdiction shall be entertained unless there are two thousand members in good standing at the time the petition is matured. The following were elected officers for the ensuing year: John Frizzel of Nashville, supreme master; Roderick Rose, Iowa, supreme foreman; M W Fish, California, supreme overseer; M W Sackett, Pennsylvania, supreme recorder; S E Davie, Ohio, supreme receiver; H C Heath, Wisconsin, supreme guide; E W Boynton, Illinois, supreme watchman; [illegible] Andrews, New York, supreme [illegible]. They were installed by P. M. S. McNair of Pennsylvania and entered upon the discharge of their duties. A resolution, printed on white satin, with thanks from the Memphis lodge for having assisted them during the epidemic, was presented.

A [illegible] at Memphis

MEMPHIS, March 22. A storm of the severest nature swept over Memphis just after midnight. It came from the southwest, continued for three hours during its progress struck White's cotton and woolen mills in the southern part of the city, which were entirely destroyed. It employed a force of a hundred and twenty five, who are thrown out of employment.

Bringing It to an Issue

ST LOUIS, 22, 1879.—Prosecuting Attorney Be[illegible] this morning applied to the Criminal Court for a subpoena duces tecum which was issued and served upon Mr Brown, Manager of Western Union Telegraph office. The subpoena is returnable on Monday next, when the case will come up for argument, and requires Mr Brown to produce all the dispatches which have passed between Governor Phelps and Messrs Nidelet, Ladd, Wakefield and McChesney during the several months past.

Shipping Cattle

NEW YORK, March 22. Private dispatches from [illegible] untrue the story that some of the steamer Brazilian's cattle had been slaughtered because of the existence among them of pleuro pneumonia. A number of shippers continue to send cattle as it is considered a much less expensive manner of shipping than to send dead meat in refrigerators and meat on the h[illegible] commands much better prices on the other side than dead meat.

Kentucky Politics

LOUISVILLE, March 22, 1879. The democratic district convention held here to day to choose candidates to the state convention to be held in May, unanimously instructed for Dr J P Blackburn for governor, James E Cantrell for lieutenant governor, R A Jones for attorney general and Fayette Hewitt for auditor. The additional strength gained by candidates by to day's instrutions insures their election.

FOREIGN.

Japanese Internal Troubles

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—A Yokohoma dispatch of March 4th says, the paper currency is 46 per cent discount and continues to decline despite various desperate attempts to check the decline. At Osaka a combination among the native merchants was made at the government's instigation to abstain from buying any foreign goods for 50 days. Half the time has expired. The press and native reform societies call more and more boldly for representation. The government of Japan threatens to include the Loo Choo Islands as a department of the Empire instead of tributary. The Loochoo have appealed to China and the foreign powers. The Japanese are organizing a small expedition of troops and police.

[illegible] Speech in the [illegible]

BERLIN, March 22. In the debate in the German reichstag last evening on his motion for the establishment of an autonomous government in Alsace Lorraine, Herr Scheceg [illegible] pointed out that Bismarck the responsible [illegible] [illegible] lived too far away. The [illegible] [illegible] grievances from the [illegible] [illegible] most prevalent. The [illegible] of the land, [illegible] and [illegible] of [illegible] did not [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] right [illegible] right place [illegible] [illegible] of a [illegible] [illegible] Government [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] of [illegible] two [illegible] people, [illegible] by which [illegible] of both [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] conciliation.

Bismarck in reply said the remarks of [illegible] a favorable impression upon him which would have [illegible] better had not his [illegible] to Paris which would [illegible] to Berlin, and [illegible] [illegible] social [illegible] to which [illegible] of France would be [illegible] of Germany. I only state [illegible] I have [illegible] fully for with [illegible] emperor In all the things we concede in the way of [illegible], we must [illegible] the safety of [illegible], not [illegible] present, but also in less peaceful times. I have begun to question whether it is right [illegible] to my other duties as Chancellor I should add that of minister of a country of a million and a half of inhabitants. I consider it [illegible] to [illegible] that it should have a solid social and political basis and an official [illegible] the chief power in Berlin [illegible] intercourse with the people. I [illegible] in favor of [illegible] [illegible] of a [illegible] with a [illegible] try as in a grand duchy of [illegible] [illegible] will. [illegible] in the hands of the [illegible]. The question as to the separation of Alsace from Lorraine should remain open. Perhaps Alsace would be more rapidly soundly organized if it did not remain [illegible] with Lorraine. Finally the good [illegible] of the population of Alsace would work [illegible] France, between who and French [illegible] wide [illegible] who remain in province. If Germany [illegible] quiet and had [illegible] this German oak formerly pulled down by the French, and now propped up by the Germans would regain its strength. Let us see that it does. (Long continued applause.)

JOB WORK.

Senator Teller's move for government buildings at Denver will be generally approved.

The News might throw some light on the statement of the Tribune that the merchants of Denver want the lease upheld.

Edward Cooper's recent order to the police commissioners ordering them to appear before him and show cause why they should not be removed looks as though he intended to do something in the way of administrative reform.

Among the recent movements in favor of co-education has been an arrangement made with forty Howard professors by which they shall give special lectures to ladies. The ladies will not have their names on the Howard catalogue but will have all the privileges of the institution.

The Times is fair in simply styling as assertions the Atchison road ex parte statement of facts which the Tribune in ariably speak of as indubitable and unquestioned facts. The Times is fair with evident leaning for the Atchison road, while the Tribune is—well you can judge for yourself.

The Tribune says: "If the lease had not been made the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe would have been built to Denver," which would have been for Denver's interest. We would ask the Tribune to tell us why, if the making of the lease was against Denver's interest, the breaking of the lease would not be for Denver's interest.

The Cincinnati C[illegible] says, "There were more citizens murdered during Grant's administration for their political opinions than under all the other administrations combined, and we never heard that Grant hurt anybody on account of the [illegible] which were brought to his knowledge." This is [illegible]. Under Hayes' administration we have not heard much of Kukluх and White League massacres.

A few days ago we quoted from a speech by the father of the present Senator Bayard on the wrong of tacking legislation on to appropriation bills. The following from a speech by Senator Stephen A. Douglass is still more emphatic: Even if the bill were right in itself, if its provisions were correct, I could not consent by my vote, to put it on this appropriation bill, for the reason that such a course is revolutionary in its character. You have to over-ride all the rules, all the usages, all the safe guards which time and experience have thrown around your legislative proceedings in order to insert this provision in your civil and diplomatic appropriation bill.

It is asserted by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe that the Rio Grande company have completely surrendered the right of ownership, and with it all franchises and property. Whether just or not, this is the claim with which it enters the supreme court in Washington and in Colorado. As this question is to be argued on its merits hereafter, we propose to wait and hear these arguments before attempting to discuss it for ourselves. Denver Times.

The Times need not wait for this. If it will consult the lease it will find that in every instance the property leased is mentioned, it says constructed line. This of course does not include all franchises.

THE TRIBUNE'S IMPARTIALITY.

The Tribune attempts under the head of "The Railroad War" to discuss the railroad situation. At the outset it says that "any special championship of one road as against the other is the foolishly wrong policy." It then goes on to make certain deductions from an entirely ex parte statement of facts. It does this when it knows that many of these facts are flatly contradicted by the other side. It says, "We stand on a platform of fair play for all." Yet it will not take into account even a single fact alleged by the D. & R. G. management of the D. & R. G. company. The Tribune's idea of fairness is to believe every alleged fact or rumor which favors the Atchison policy and denounces as untrue every statement that is unfavorable to the same road. We give a few of the ex parte statements:

The Tribune says: "The lease is signed and sealed. It cannot be broken because the Atchison road has fulfilled every stipulation in a plain, common-sense, business way. It owns a majority of the stock, and it is running the road." The above quotation contains no less than three downright misstatements, if the article in Friday's GAZETTE contains true statements. We of course would not insist that the Tribune should receive all our statements as true, but if it wishes to be fair it will at least investigate them when it is perfectly easy to do so through the documents. When we quote a provision of the lease and show that the announced policy of the Atchison road is to break it, it is certainly not fair in the Tribune to state that "the Atchison road has fulfilled every stipulation. When we show that the majority of the stock is not held by the Atchison road nor by anyone under its control, the Tribune is hardly impartial in declaring that the Atchison road owns a majority of the stock.

Again it is disingenuous and unfair in its treatment of the D. & R. G. road regarding the canon. It is true that the rights for which the D. & R. G. Co., is contending in the canon were granted seven years ago, but it was not obliged to build until June 1882 and even then only congress could annul the right. It was not expected that the road would be able to lay all its track immediately. But we venture to assert that no railroad in this country has been pushed forward in the last seven years with more persistent and indomitable energy than the D. & R. G. Notwithstanding it was not projected until just before the panic, and during these years it has been oblige to contend with the general mistrust in all new railroad enterprises in the west, still it has laid in our state 337 miles of railroad. The Tribune may sneer at this work, but the D. & R. G. road has laid more miles of track in Colorado than any other road. We call it unjust to say that the D. & R. G. road simply affirms its right to the canon in order to hawk that right to another corporation. If the Tribune will pardon us we would like again to refer to stern facts which will show that the D. & R. G. road did attempt to put a road through the canon and was interfered with by the Atchison road for simply bulldozing purposes. In the latter part of April, 1878, a well-organized grading force of 300 men, provided amply with tools, was sent into the canon to commence the work of building to Leadville. At that time the Atchison road was trying to bulldore the D. & R. G. road into a unfavorable combination with it. The purpose of the D. & R. G. to occupy and build in the canon offered a good opportunity for carrying out the bulldozing plan. After the grading force was on the way to the canon, a dispatch was sent to Canon City to send out a force of men into the canon before the D. & R. G. graders arrived. So a few minutes before the arrival of the latter, a rabble armed with hoes, shovels and such implements as could be picked up rushed into the canon. This gave the Atchison road a pretext for asking for an injunction restraining the D. & R. G. from working in the canon, which was granted. When the injunction was raised last summer it was under such conditions that the D. & R. G. could not build a road.

Thus a year ago the D. & R. G. attempted to build a road through the canon, but was restrained by the obtaining of an injunction by the Atchison road who at the time took this action simply to hamper the other road, with no intention of building through the canon as want of preparations show.

In view of the above we think the Tribune anything but unfair and impartial in this discussion. We would not condemn the Tribune for defending the Atchison road, if it did so from a sense of justice after an honest consideration of the facts as they really exist. But the Tribune will not do this and hence we can only regard, as contemptible cant, its protestations of a desire for fair play and the interests of Denver.

John Roach's Profits.

Mr. Roach must have some other and better reason for his anxious, unselfish and patriotic defense of the prohibitory registry law which his well-known modesty forbids him to disclose to the president and congress. We shall endeavor to relieve him from his dilemma, and make his patriotism and disinterestedness so clear that they shall be understood and appreciated by all men. The price which Mr. Roach names as the cost of a British-built steamship of the first class is the price at which the ship is delivered to the shipowner, and includes the builder's profit. The price which he gives as the cost of a first class steamship built at Roach's yard is exclusive of Mr. Roach's profit. What those profits amount to is shown by the following figures: The City of Peking and City of Tokio, 5,060 tons each, cost, as stated by Mr. Roach (for the information of the president and congress), $632,500 each. The City of San Francisco, City of New York and City of Sydney, 3,010, tons each, cost, on the same authority, $376,200 each. Total cost of the five steamers, $2,393,600 Turning to the construction account of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, as printed in their official report of April 30, 1876, we find that the company paid Mr. Roach for the City of Peking, $1,264,404.69; for the City of Tokio, $1,275,102.44; for the City of San Francisco, $744,960.42; City of New York, $757,539.46; City of Sydney, $714,331.51; making a total of $4,786,338.52, and leaving honest John Roach a profit by his own showing, of $2,392,738 (just 100 per centum) on the five steamers. The price paid for the Peking and the Tokio is exclusive of the $300,000 expended on them in San Francisco for repairs. With this explanation of Mr. Roach's methods of "reviving American commerce and striving for the mastery of the ocean" it is useless to follow his plea for ocean subsides. He says we cannot establish and keep up steam lines to foreign ports without liberal subsides for long terms. Of course we cannot do without subsides if our shipowners and steamship companies are to start with paying a toll equal to 100 per centum on the cost of their steamers and compete with foreign shipowners.

If the Pacific Mail Company could have bought their five steamers named above upon the Clyde the company would have saved $2,600,000 on their first cost, and $300,000 in repairs, beside several months' detention to the two large steamers. Allowing twenty per centum per annum on this sum for interest, insurance and depreciation, the saving would be equal to a subsidy of $520,000 per annum, plus the money expended every winter at Washington in effects to extort a subsidy from the taxpayers of the country through their representative in congress. Such subsidies when obtained do not benefit the stockholders of the Pacific Mail, as the experience of the past ten years and the present financial status of the company abundantly prove. It is obvious that such part of the endowment as escapes the clutches of the managers pro tem. goes to swell the already colossal fortune and extravagant profits of "the great American shipbuilder" and patriotic defender of our prohibitory ship registry law. Hence his desire for a general system of ocean subsidies, all of which he proposes to absorb after his manner of absorption of the late subsidy and profits of the Pacific Mail, and hence his opposition to a relaxation of the Ship Registry law, which would relieve ship owners and force Mr. Roach to be contented with a fair and moderate profit on the work turned out from his shipyard. San Francisco Chronicle.

RELIGIOUS NOTES.

Mr. Moody is hard at work in Baltimore. In two of the four districts which he mapped out for himself at the beginning of the season, he has closed his labors, and he reports nearly 1,000 converts and inquirers in one of the two and 850 in the other. Six hours of every day are given to study, and he usually preaches, it is said, four times a day, the sermon being delivered in four different churches at 4 o'clock, 7:30, 8:30 and 9:30 p. m. On Sunday afternoon, in spite of a pouring rain, he had an audience of 2,000.

There is a religious newspaper in New York which has beaten the crowd in the way of business, for it offers to every new subscriber "a genuine seven-shooter revolver." It seems to have some sort of notion that seven-shooters are not precisely the instruments which an organ of Christianity should be engaged in distributing; it admits that its offer is extraordinary, but does not think the proposition inconsistent with the spirit of its columns "in these days of tramps and burglars."

The Prince de Broglie Revel has resigned his commission to become a Carthusian monk.

The Hon. and Rev. Algernon Stanley, a son of the late Lord Stanley, of Alderly, has just seceded to the Church of Rome.

Cardinal Cullen died worth only £6,000 sterling, yet more than £1,000,000 had been bequeathed to him one way or another.

Some $[illegible] has been raised for the endowment of the proposed See of Liverpool, and $60,000 is yet needed.

Methodists and Baptists were pioneers in Iowa at the same time, and while the former now number 75,000 members the latter have only 25,000, and 113 of their churches are said to be without pastors.

Mr. Spurgeon, who has been for some time at Mentone, in France, for the benefit of his health and is rapidly improving in his physical condition, sends his sermon weekly to the Tabernacle in London.

Mrs. Charles Brook, who died recently in Leicestershire, gave to the Church of England during her life not less than $700,000.

The Baptists have opened a mission at Mahlons, ancient Sheckem, near Jacob's Well. A native Syrian convert has charge.

The Presbyterians contributed for various purposes last year an average of $14.60 per member, the Congregationalists, $8.80.

The Methodist papers of last week report more than 3,000 converts.

Six years ago there was but one Christian church in Japan. Now there are thirty-six. Then every Christian effort was frowned upon by the government of that country. To-day one hundred young men are studying for the ministry in the schools of the American Board.

A church to be called the "Church of Thanks," will be built in Berlin to commemorate the escape of the Emperor from the assassin; $20,000 has been voluntarily subscribed for it.

The German Reformed Church in the United Stated has six synods, forty-five classes, 710 ministers, 1369 congregations, 147,788 members, 90,993 unconfirmed members and 1237 Sunday schools, with 89,932 scholars.

Somebody has found out that since modern missionary work began, the Bible has been translated into 212 languages, thirty-nine of which had never before been written; that these languages are spoken by 85,000,000 human beings, and that the book is distributed at the rate of nearly twelve a minute.

LONGFELLOW TO THE CHILDREN

His Response to the Gift of a Chair from the Village Blacksmith's Chestnut Tree

Am I a king that I should call my own
 This splendid ebon throne?
Or by what reason or what right divine
 Can I proclaim it mine?

Only, perhaps, by right divine of song
 It may to me belong,
Only because the spreading chestnut tree
 Of old was sung by me

Well I remember it in all its prime
 When in the summer time
The affluent foliage of its branches made
 A cavern of cool shade

There by the blacksr s rge beside the street,
 Its blossoms white and sweet
Enticed the bee until it seemed alive
 And murmured like a hive

And when the winds of autumn, with a shout,
 Tossed its great arms about
The shining chestnuts bursting from the sheath
 Dropped to the gr und beneath

And now some fragments of its branches bare,
 Shaped as a stately chair,
Have by my hearthstone found a home at last
 And whisper of the past

The Danish king could not in all his pride
 Repel the ocean tide
But seated in this chair I can in rhyme
 Roll back the tide of Time

I see again, as one in vision sees
 The blossoms and the bees
And hear the children's voices shout and call,
 And the brown chestnuts fall

I see the smithy with its fires aglow
 I hear the bellows blow,
And the shrill hammers on the anvil beat
 The iron white with heat

And thus, dear children, have ye made for me
 This day a jubilee,
And to my more than three score years and ten,
 Brought back my youth again

The heart hath its own memory, like the mind
 And in it are enshrined
The precious keepsakes, into which are wrought
 The giver's loving thought

Only your love and your remembrance could
 Give life to this dead wood
And make these branches, leafless now so long,
 Blossom again in song

LITERARY NOTES

Ten thousand copies of Rev Phillips Brooks' sermons have already been issued.

A translation of Longfellow's "Song of Hiawatha" has been published at Moscow for the benefit of soldiers disabled in the ... of war.

Mr. Aubrey de Vere has a new volume of poe... ready, entitled "Legends of the Saxon Saints," which C. Kegan Paul & Co will publish in April.

The Master of the Rolls has appointed ... Ike of Prof. Brewer the only man in England qualified to succeed him, Mr. Ja... Gardner

Senor Emilio Castelar has chosen for the subject of his lectures before the University of Oxford the "Spanish Litera... of the Nineteenth Century."

A London book-seller, has a ... of Luther It is a Bible formerly belonging to him, and containing 16 autograph lines, with his signature, and the date 1542

Mr. Rassam has discovered a cylinder of Sennacherib dated B C 700 It will probably help to decide the exact year of Sennacherib's expedition against Hezekiah

Theodore Martin finds it necessary to extend his 'Life of the Prince Consort' to a fifth volume and expects to publish the fourth and fifth volumes together near the end of the year

The life of Turner, which Mr Hampton has been issuing in the Portfolio, and which Roberts Brothers publish in book-form, contains nine prints of pictures by Turner, etched by A. Brunet-Debaines.

D Appleton & Co. will shortly publish "Early Christian Literature Primers" edited by Prof George Park Fisher, D D," commencing with 'The Apostolic Fathers and the Apologists of the Second Century, by Rev George A Jackson.

The Duke of Argyll's work on the eastern question will comprise two volumes The chapter on the Afghan question, which caused delay in publishing the book, has now been added, and the entire work has passed through the hands of the printers. This will be the largest single contribution yet made to the literature of the great question in the east

A new edition of Crabb's Synonyms with the latest additions and corrections, presenting that useful and standard work in its most improved form, is issued by Harper & Brothers, affording valuable aid to beginners in the art of English composition, by whom it will be the more frequently referred to as they become more familiar with its merits

Hungary is a queer country in its literature Between the years 1481 and 1711, 1,793 different works are now know to have been published Within the past century, the number of works on topics of natural philosophy alone has been no fewer than 8,912, while of papers and pamphlets there have been 2,834 in addition in the same department of literature.

Porter & Coates, Philadelphia, will publish about the middle of the present year the third volume of the Count de Paris History of the Civil War It will contain without abridgment the fifth and sixth volumes of the French edition and will embrace the account of the battles of Gettysburg, Vicksburg Port Hudson and other events of the war to Jan 1 1864 The fourth volume completing the work is expected during the year

In Great Britain, last year, no fewer than 5 314 books were published, of which 3 750 were entirely new works, and 1,584 new editions of old ones An average of nearly seventeen novels or other works of fiction was published every week making a total of 879 for the year This class of books is the largest in the list the next is the theological class, which numbers 739 But new editions of novels were almost as numerous as the novels themselves, while of works on theological subjects hardly a third went beyond the first It is a curious and impressive fact that fiction should thus get the better of theology

Early in the spring Harper & Brothers will publish a work called From Egypt to Palestine by Rev Dr Bartlett President of Dartmouth College It will be an octavo book of 550 pages This house has just published biographies of Hume and Goldsmith in the "English Men of Letters" series The Goldsmith was written by William Black The next books in this series will probably be Burns and Defoe The new edition of Hume's History of England will be ready in a few weeks in style uniform with the handsome Macaulay which came out during the holidays

Matthew Arnold calls Heine the successor of Goethe as a soldier in the war of liberation of humanity Under the title of Heine's Wit Wisdom and Pathos Mr J Snodgrass has made translations of the most striking passages occurring throughout the collected edition of Heine's prose works which will give the English reader a better idea of this great writer than has heretofore been accessible The book will appear immediately, and will be published by Alexander Gardner in conjunction with Trubner & Co It is intended that it shall do for Heine's prose what has already been done for his verse

Mr H S King of the firm of Henry King & Co Cornhill London died last month leaving $800 000 He succeeded the celebrated book selling house of Smith Elder & Co in a part of their business including the old stand in Cornhill This firm who it will be remembered were the first to recognize the superlative merits of Currer Bell formed also close relations with Thackeray and became the publishers of the Cornhill Magazine when it adventured under his editorship Subsequently Mr Smith determined to start the Pall Mall Gazette, taking its name from Arthur Pendennis paper.

Remember Tuesday is the last registration day.

The Illustrated Reveille of Leadville will have an edition of 30,000 copies.

Among the last mining sales at Leadville is the Bruce Iron mine for $60,000

Mr. J. W. Fairfield was very warmly congratulated yesterday. His pockets are full of cigars.

The Deaf Mute Index prints a long list of elegant presents received by its editor, Hugh M. Harbert.

We received yesterday a circular of the Greeley Musical Academy. Mrs. B. H. Yerkes, Principal.

Those who favor Prohibition should keep in mind the caucus which is to meet on next Tuesday evening.

The city is so full of people that our hotels are all crowded. What shall we do in two months from now?

The Chieftain has an article on "our railroads" which it calls "a correct view of the situation." We suppose this is meant in a purely Pickwickian sense.

Alderman Crissey desires us to state, inasmuch as his name has been publicly named for another term in the council, that under no circumstance will he allow his name to be used as a candidate.

The supreme lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen met at Nashville, Tennessee, on Wednesday last. Delegates were present from sixteen states including Colorado. The number of deaths last year was 406, to whose estates was paid the sum of $8?,000. There is a flourishing lodge of this order in this city.

True & Sutton, our Leadville shippers, have shipped 100,000 pounds of freight daily for Leadville during the past week. There is now no old freight at the depot. All there is on hand can be shipped in two or three days. The supply of teams is now good. The prevailing rates are three cents per pound. This has been a good week's work.

Dr. M. Souvielle returned from Denver yesterday and will take up his residence at Manitou for the summer. Owing to professional calls in Denver he was unable to be here in season to make arrangements for the exhibition of his instrument for the [illegible] of diseases of the air passages at City Hall last evening. It is therefore postponed until next Wednesday when further notice will be given.

Personal

Colonel D. C. Dodge is in the city.

Hon. W. S. Jackson was among yesterday's arrivals from Denver.

Major E. J. Anderson came from Denver yesterday to spend Sunday with his family.

Collector J. S. Wolfe came down from Denver last night and will remain here until Monday.

Ex-Governor Hunt came from Denver yesterday. He has been spending the winter in Florida and Washington.

Dr. D. P. Bible, general agent of the Howard galvanic and electric shield, is once more registered at the National.

L. S. Alexander, esq., of Russell & Alexander, is in the city. The Leadville papers speak highly of his work in that city.

Judge C. W. Burris, District Attorney of the 4th Judicial district, of which El Paso county is a member, stopped over here last night and will go south to day.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stillman returned from the east yesterday. Mr. Stillman will immediately commence business with F. W. Goddard, a half interest in whose store he bought a few weeks ago.

S. C. RATLIFF.

A friend hands us the following clipping from the London Sporting Times: "Mrs. Muriel took great interest in parish affairs. Last year she promised to assist in decorating the church. One illuminated text she thought would look well over the chancel screen, and she requested her husband to bring it from town. As might have been expected, he forgot the text, and wired to his wife for particulars. To the surprise of all the telegraph clerks this message came flashing over the wires: 'Unto us a child is born, nine feet long by two feet broad.'"

The Denver Times of Friday gives the following item regarding an influx of Kentuckians: "G. D. Nock, and a party of thirty others, arrived in Denver last night from Louisville, Ky., intending to make Colorado their future home. Three ladies accompanied them, and for the present will remain at Colorado Springs, while the twenty-eight gentlemen will outfit and go to Leadville. Thomas W. White of the party, is an experienced traveler and camper, having occasionally taken long journeys with his family. Two years ago he came to Denver with his family, and procuring a team went to Deadwood, and after some time in that place went to Chicago. With such experienced men, this Kentucky "community" will doubtless be a successful one. Mr. White also states that a large number of people from his state will soon be here."

Seven years ago to-day was issued the first newspaper in this city. It was called the "Out West," and was a quarto in form. The first edition contained 5,000 copies. J. E. Liller was the editor. The advertisements tell of the rapid changes in business. None of the firms remain unchanged to this day. Sweet & Stevens has become G. H. Sweet; Jerry Savage, Savage & Florance, and Goodrich & True, True & Sutton. These are the only firms that advertised then that are represented now. The "Out West" continued until January 1, 1873, when the WEEKLY GAZETTE, of the present size of the daily, was started. Among the contributions to the first number of the "Out West" was a letter from England, written by Charles Kingsley, who was a regular correspondent of the "Out West." We have files of the "Out West" which we shall be glad to show to any who are interested in the early history of the city.

The British [illegible] publishes an interesting [illegible] from Pike's Peak from which we make the following extracts.

"The United States Signal Service Station at Pike's Peak is the highest signal station in the world; it is also the highest inhabited portion of the globe. It was opened in the month of September 1873. That it was a wise provision of the government in establishing a signal station at this point is no longer questioned, the facts having already demonstrated its practicability, and the present success promises that Pike's Peak signal station is yet to stand at the head of all astronomical and meteorological stations in the world. This point is wonderfully favored by nature for the study of astronomy and meteorology. The rarity of the atmosphere brings out a remarkable brilliancy and clearness to the stars and all the heavenly bodies. The nights are almost always cloudless, and cloudy days are the exception. * * * * * *

The summit of Pike's Peak contains 60 acres. It is 14,336 feet above the level of the sea. On the highest point of the summit stands the signal station, a rough stone building, 24 by 30, one story in height. It is divided into four rooms: officers' room, kitchen, store room and wood-room. And here in this bleak spot, nearly 20 miles from the habitations of man, though three miles nearer the heavenly regions than most parts of New England, these men live the larger part of the year. The station is three miles from the timber line, where the greater part of vegetation ceases. Short grass, tufted with delicate Alpine flowers, struggles for an existence against the frigidity of the atmosphere and creeps toward the mountain top; but there are hundreds of acres of cold gray and reddish rocks where not a vestige of verdure exists. Like the dwellings of the Arctic regions, the inhabitants of Pike's Peak have but two seasons—summer and winter. Two months of summer, August and September, and ten long, cold months of winter. The summer season passes quickly. The atmosphere is congenial, the many visitors at the Peak enhance its social life with joy, wonderment and mirth. During the summer of 1878 upward of 900 people, in parties of from five to thirty, visited the Peak, among them many ladies. They registered from the four quarters of the globe, and they all expressed admiration and astonishment at the grandeur and sublimity of the wonderful views as seen from the Peak. To behold a sunrise from the Peak is an event of a lifetime, and for this purpose visitors often remain over night at the station, to be ready to catch the first glimpse of the sun as it appears above the horizon, gilding with its bright rays the mountains, hills, valleys, and plains, to the wonder and delight of the amazed beholder.

We call special attention to the advertisement of A. H. Storer. The good quality and faithfulness of his work make it unnecessary for us to add any special commendation. His is the pioneer paint shop of the city.

MINING NOTES AND MINING CAMPS.

Water is worth half a dollar a barrel in Leadville.

Flour is now retailing at Ten Mile for twelve dollars per sack.

It is claimed that carbonate of silver has been found in South park.

The population of Ten Mile is being added to at the rate of at least twenty-five a day.

Another saw mill was started up below Malta yesterday. It is owned by H. M. Russell.

More than fifty licenses to sell liquor at Ten Mile have been issued within the month.

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe people will erect a large warehouse in Leadville.

Forty legal instruments were filed at Leadville Monday with the county clerk for record.

A new four-horse stage line will be opened to Ten Mile on Monday, by Messrs. Cook & Wassol.

The total production of the Giant smelter, at Leadville, for the month of February, was $115,000.

A coal mine recently discovered at Otero, New Mexico, was sold last week for $12,000.

William Shepperd has bonded two five foot prospect holes on Oak Creek, for $10,000.

A mine at Silver Cliff in which Parson Hoge, of Ouray, owns one-tenth interest has been bonded for $25,000.

It is believed that there are nearly 1,000 men in Ten Mile district, nearly all of whom are prospecting for grub-stakes.

A town government has been organized at Carbonateville in Ten Mile district. John Jenkins has been elected mayor.

The output of the Hidden Treasure mine in Gilpin county, for last week, was two hundred and ninety-five ounces of gold.

It is rumored that the "Dyer" mine, situated at the head of Iowa gulch, Leadville district, has been sold to Chicago parties for $100,000.

A lot on Harrison avenue, about one block below the court house, Leadville, was yesterday disposed of for business purposes, and it brought $3,500.

The Canon City Record, speaking of the oil well near that town, says that the 400 feet of new casing and the twelve-horse power engine are expected every day. As soon as received work will begin immediately.

Parties at Greenland, a station on the Denver and Rio Grande railway, have formed a company for the purpose of sinking a 100 foot shaft in that neighborhood, mineral having been discovered which bore good indications.

A number of [illegible] parties are preparing to prospect in gulch mining [illegible] in several of the localities where gulch mining was [illegible] in the early history of the county. In [illegible] cases a considerable [illegible] will be made for hydraulic machinery.

The Deadwood Enterprise thinks that Lead City, within another year, will be the mining camp of the Black Hills. Her wealth and progress is founded not upon soft dirt with here and there a speck of gold in it, but upon the more substantial and permanent basis of solid rock literally sparkling with the precious metal.

Some rich gold lodes have been discovered during the last week or two, about two and a half miles beyond Empire up the north fork of Clear Creek, that promise to become very valuable. Ore that runs 40 ounces gold per ton has been found, but not enough work has yet been done to establish the value of the lodes. Quite a number of prospectors are already in there at work, sinking shafts and making locations.—Georgetown Courier.

The Crooke Mining and Smelting company at Lake City are going to double the capacity of their enormous smelting works as soon as brick can be burned for the furnaces. They will purchase all the ores that offer. The Ute and Ule mines, belonging to that company, have been worked all winter, and have furnished a large amount of ore which is now ready for treatment. These mines look better than they have ever done before. The lower workings in each furnish better bodies and better grades of ore than were found near the surface.

The Reveille says that forty-four saw-mills are booming away in the gulches and forests, and twelve more are on the way, that fully six hundred men are employed in felling trees and cutting them into saw logs, and yet the demand for lumber far exceeds the supply; that the fame of Leadville has awakened the drowsy capitalists of the east, and piles of money are coming in; and that nobody can predict the future of the place or fitly measure its wealth. Rumors of new strikes burden the air, but there are no reliable particulars. The North American, situate on South Evans, shows a bed of sand carbonates assaying 242 ounces of silver to the ton. The New Discovery, belonging to the Little Pittsburg consolidation, continues to exhibit marvelous deposits of high grade ore. By exploitation for the purpose of ascertaining the entire strength of the vein, thirty-two feet of mineral has been exposed. Since the discovery of this enormous deposit, a cross section has been cut, extending into it thirty-five feet without the least diminution of the body, either in quantity or quality. This is one of the best mines in the district. Gen. H. B. Bearce is the underground manager, and he has done his work thoroughly. The greatest length of any one entry is 232 feet, and the total length of all 840 feet, but the entire distance upon ore ranging from eight to thirty two feet in height. Last Saturday, this mine produced 125 tons of ore, from development alone, no stoping being done. The better ores run from 180 to 1,100 ounces, and the common grades from 30 ounces upward, with about 66 per cent. lead. When the four hoisting engines are in full operation, 500 tons per day can be raised from the mine, if demanded. The entire property is so arranged that when working forces are put to breaking down mineral from the high solid sides of the immense blocks standing in the mines, the output will tax the hoisting facilities to the very utmost. The pay roll of the Little Pittsburg Consolidated carries about two hundred names. That is about all in regard to mining matters.

An Appeal for Wolfe Hall.

We have received a circular with the above heading which is worthy of a hearing. It seems the present accommodations are too limited and it has been determined to build an addition. As the original building funds came from the east, it had been decided to raise the necessary amount to pay for the enlargement in this state, which should not be difficult, as it is the only Protestant school exclusively for girls between Topeka and the Pacific coast. The proposed improvements are to cost $12,000. Miss Wolfe has subscribed $1,500 with which amount the work will be commenced. There are three channels through which contributions are solicited, which are as follows:

First. There will be a permanent subscription paper, to which contributions, small or great, will ever be welcome. Let the many who can send no more than $1.00 send that, with the glad and proud feeling that they can add one brick to the walls within which our daughters may gain the wisdom which aids to true and useful living.

Second. There will be a sale of useful and fancy articles in the Hall, during the early summer, and it is earnestly desired that from the deft fingers of women and children far and near, may come gifts that will greatly help towards the building of this hall of learning.

Third. There will also be a permanent sale case in Wolfe Hall, which, it is hoped, may be kept well-stocked with saleable natural curiosities. All tourists have a wholesome desire for souvenirs of our wonderful scenery, our peculiar and beautiful flora, and our renowned minerals. Therefore it is thought that a well-formed and well advertised collection of this kind may insure a continuous and valuable addition to the fund for the new wing, besides attracting wide-spread public attention and interest in the hall. Collections of prepared ferns, grasses, pressed flowers, articles made of native woods, barks and stones, mineralogical specimens, crystals, petrifactions and fossils, stereoscopic and photographic views of local scenery and objects of natural history, stuffed birds and small animals, especially the ptarmigan in its summer and winter dress, anything and everything that can please and tempt tourist or resident will prove valuable.

The first game (9 innings) of base ball of the season was played at Alamo Park yesterday afternoon, between the Athletics, a newly organized club of young men, and a good picked nine composed of colored boys of the city. The Athletics won an easy victory by a score of 46 to 14.

THE CURRENCY QUESTION.

Notwithstanding the fact that thousands of our people are at present worrying themselves almost to death over this vexed question, even to the extent of neglecting their business, their homes and their duty to their families, there are still thousands upon thousands of smart, hard working, intelligent men pouring into the great Arkansas Valley, the Garden of the West, where the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railroad offers them their choice of 2,500,000 acres of the finest farming lands in the world at almost their own prices. If you do not believe it, write to the undersigned, who will tell you where you can get a cheap land exploring ticket, and how, at a moderate expense, you can see for yourself and be convinced.
